To Whom it May Concern,

I am Dr. David Tesini a clinical and academic pediatric dentist and President of Toothprints Inc. I am recently retired, after 45 years, from a private pediatric dentistry and orthodontic practice, but I continue my academic appointment as Associate Clinical Professor at Tufts University School of Dental Medicine, Boston MA in the Dept. of Pediatric Dentistry.

As part of Toothprints Inc. participation in the MLSC (Massachusetts Life Sciences Center) Internship Challenge, we were fortunate to have Adithya Kethu choose us for his internship during the period May 1 through August 15, 2021.

In brief, having 'Adi' on board was one of the best experiences that both Toothprints and myself personally, have had in working with advanced computer science interns. We developed predictive insights into the functionality of algorithms and API interactions that would support a smartphone application. The Pacified® is a biometric tool to help mothers determine the proper pacifier size of a pacifier based on infant facial anthropometric and demographic correlations.

Adi's stated objective was to work with our team of dentists, graphic designers, marketing consultants and other professionals to develop tools to prevent cranio-facial growth and orthodontic problems. He worked well with all collaborators from several medical and computer science disciplines, and soon became the recognized team leader of the projects. He never refused any challenge (and to repeat ... 'never refused') because he always found a way to find the answer through research and educational tools available to him. He got us over so many hurdles which resulted in a functioning and scientifically validated Pacified® app, two supporting websites (www.toothprints.info and www.pacifiedapp.com), and finally progress on development of the Gnathic-Click app, a clinical tool predictive of micrognathia tendency in infants and toddlers. This was a robust achievement for anyone during that short period of time.

We all look forward to working with Adi in the future and I can recommend him, without reservation, for any position he may seek. Feel free to reach me at Tesini22@gmail.com

Sincerely,

David A Tesini DMD MS
